Cotton Men's Team Wins First
Honors—Stirring Address
by Rabbi Leon Harrison.
Teams Report at 4 P. M.

United war workers took the field again Tuesday morning with even protect.

Indications Tuesday were that team workers would be able to see more of their prospects and that there would not be so much interference as a result of the peace celebrations in which every man, woman and child indulged far into the night Monday.

Field workers are meeting with full and prompt responses from those on whom they are calling, and Memphians appear to be vieing with each other in making contributions that will not only express their happiness over the tremendous victory scored by American solders in France and Belgium, but that will also show their appreciation of the boos who have made such momentous history during the brief time they have been overseas.

Meet at 4 P. M.

Babbi Harrison, Speaks.

Dr. Leon Harrison, rabbi Temple is rael, St. Louis, made a stirring address at the meeting Monday afternoon, declaring there had never before seen an army so clean-sanded, clean-souled as the American army, and that the seven welfare or ranizations were responsible for this unparalleled standard. He urged that the people of Memphis give in a spirit of gratitude for the victory the American army had brought about, and shouted?

"If these boys have given their blood, won't you give your money?"

"The protecting care of these boys through the seven welfare or ganizations is worth more than $200,000,000,000 or even more

Meet at 4 P. M.

All team captains and their workers were expected to attend the meeting at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to report for the second day. The hour has been changed from 5 p.m. Reports were also expected from county workers. Chairman T. B. King, who has charge of the campaign in the county outside of Memphis, says there is tremendous enthusiasm among the people and that they will raise their quota without question. No reports, however, showing amounts collected outside of Memphis were available Tuesday morning.

Team No. 1, captained by Hugh R. Wynne, led all workers in Memphis Monday, reporting a total of $19,955. Mr. Wynne and his associates are working among the cotton trade of Memphis, Team No. 6, Charles Ger-

> WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES Nov. 12. (By the Associated Press.)-

ON THE MEUSE AND MOSELLE.

Nov. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—
The last French town to fall into American hands before the armistice went into effect was Stensy. Patrois reported they had found it empty not more than a quarter of an hour before il o'clock yesierday. American troops rushed through the town and in a few minutes allied flags appeared from windows. As the church bell solemnly tolled the hour of 11, troops from the Ninetteth division were pouring into the town.

Only a line of glowing camp fires marked the front last night. Except for the rumble of thousands of trucks and other noises incident to the stirring of enormous armies, there was not a sound to indicate that two great forces were still facing each other. So far no violation of the armistice has been reported, there not being even an accidental burst of machine gun fire.

The greater part of the 500 persons remaining in Stensy were still in their cellars fearfully awaiting the bombardment which they believed would surely come as the Americans entered the town. Many had yielded to German persuasion or force and had retreated with the enemy. The few who dared first to venture into the streets greeted the Americans with tears in their eyes and fairly deluged them with questions. The majority seemed too dazed to be able to understand that fighting had stopped. Tom Doran, the armless newsboy at the corner of Main street and North Court avenue, has announced that he will give the proceeds of his entire sales of papers Wednesday to the fund, and those in charge of the campaign are asking:

"If a young man without hands or arms is able to do this much for the boys in France, what is the limit for those who have both arms and hands and are unhandicapped in their activities?"

NASHVILLE LEADING

The town is not badly damaged by shell fire, but, according to the remaining inhabitants, has been plundered of nearly everything of value. The streets were barricaded with hurcheaps of furniture, indicating the intention of the Germans to hold desperately if attacked before the armistice was effective. At the last moment, however, they withdrew.

Flags have appeared like magic over the shell-torn buildings of Verdunfrench and American colors are flying side by side.

Nashville raised $20,000 the first day f the united war fund drive and Mid-le Tennessee, including that city, consibuted $146,000, according to reports accived Tuesday morning by S. M. ackson, secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. the shell-torn buildings of Verdun-French and American colors are flying side by side.

In every village, even those from which the Germans had been driven within the past few days, there are flags and decorations which were brought up to the front by the sol-diers. In the villages back of the line there were impromptu celebrations and the civilians in holiday spirit saluted the Americans and shouted "the war is finished."

Money will be needed to bring the troops home from France and allow completion of the Becessary projects under way. Another loan probably will have to be floated. The great revenue bill, placing upon the American people taxes amounting to more than $6,000,000,000, must be passed by congress.

Industrially the change from war to peace will create as many problems as the change from peace to war. War contract plants must be converted to make the commodities of peace. Wage standards, changed by the war, must be readjusted; the position of women in industries board, the war labor board and other governmental agencies must be continued or substitutes be created in the opinion of officials for the solution of these problems. The returned soldiers must have work and a home. This is a reconstruction question that congress will be called upon to consider. Government control of the railroads, while insured for 21 morths longer, must be decided as to permanency or abandonment, as well as the control of the telegraph and telephone systems. Supervision of food and distribution and the fixing of prices for necessary commodities are other problems of reconstruction.

It was noted by officers that Marshal Foch and his naval advisers had not lost sight of the mutiny within the German fleet, and the possibility that this might interfere with the carrying out of the armistice naval terms. The supplementary condition, authorizing occupation of Heigoland, as an advanced base by the aliles in case the specified ships are not promptly surrendered, is designed to render the German fleet harmless in any case and its destruction certain.

It was noted also that ample precautions had been taken in the terms against the erection of any interior defenses behind the Rhine. The occupation of Rhine defenses and of a 30 kilometer zone on the right bank of the river wherever a bridgehead is to be protected, gives absolute domination of the 46-kilometer neutral zone established east of the Rhine to the allied forces, even without the garrisoning of any cities or other points within the zone. The way is to be kept open continually for advance into the heart of Germany by a dozen routes across the great river.
